

Nixel Expertise for Software Design & Development

Nixel has advanced expertise on software design & development. Over the past decade we have worked with leading organizations on software applications for their operations. In addition, Nixel has a range of software products that cover areas including process automation, relationship management, collaborative intranets and knowledge management.

Nixel will be delighted to work on specific software applications with an offsite outsourcing relationship. We have a methodology that has helped us produce quality software within stated delivery schedules. Our team is constantly researching new technologies and methods that enables our software to be more robust, reliable and scalable. Our quality assurance program ensures that software being delivered has undergone quality tests for errors and functionality compliance.

Nixel's vast experience with over a hundred different business and functional domains and our expertise in software design have helped us create software that is user-friendly and scalable.

We will be happy to work on either a time based or fixed cost method of costing for these projects.

We typically begin projects with a study that enables the drafting of Functional Specifications. This helps us estimate costs and schedules. Once this has been approved, the Nixel team architects and designs the system. We also make quality plans and project schedules. Once approved, the developers begin building the software. Quality checks are done periodically and once modules are complete, they are subject to rigorous quality checks. Documentation, deployment and training complete the final stages of delivery.

We would like to work with you on your applications. Please do let us know your requirements or if you like, we can work out the specific areas with you.
